We have more than a decade of experience; we are a premier, national retained executive search firm.

We serve our clients by partnering with them to identify, recruit, and select top quality leaders, but the real value that we bring to a client's leadership team is finding leaders that are professionally proven and who fit with the existing team and culture.

That's what leads to success in all organizations - the right leaders in the right roles.

Retained Executive Search Defined

We are a retained executive search firm.

Retained search consulting is a professional service provided to organizations (companies, universities, non-profits, etc.) seeking an individual to fill a specific and vital role in the ongoing growth and health of the organization.

This is what we do:

We find people for positions.

What

Why

As a professional search firm, we provide extensive research and accessibility to the most desirable and highly qualified candidates, as well as providing objective, unbiased input into their strengths and weaknesses. We effectively identify, qualify, and recruit candidates not actively seeking a new position by building relationships and networks among potential candidates. We also proactively assess your organizational needs to customize each search according to company goals and needs.

Testimonials

I have enjoyed working with Bret, and appreciated his diligence every time we've undertaken a search. His firm has helped us significantly in building our leadership team at Prison Fellowship. Dalton Group's work is critical to what is our most important resource: people.

Chuck Colson, Prison Fellowship

Your wisdom and expertise in helping us find just the right person for our COO/CFO position continues to amaze and delight me! ...Because you assessed the culture of our organization so well you were able to discern who would be a good fit. You were right—he is a spectacular fit!

Kathy Hopkins, NILD

Bret became one of us and recognized our need better than we did. The leader we hired as Chief Operating Officer is not only a perfect fit with our mission and culture, he has helped us more than double our revenue.

Joni Eareckson Tada, Joni & Friends

We are thrilled with our start with our new COO. He is everything and more than we hoped.
